CTE CONCURRENT DUAL ENROLLMENT INFORMATION

The DSISD Career and Technical Education (CTE) Center is pleased to offer concurrent dual enrollment through Bay College for junior and senior students enrolled in our two hour sections.

The CTE Center has always offered articulated credit through many colleges and will continue to do so. Articulation means that students in all of our programs are simultaneously earning advanced standing at these colleges by taking our courses. Although articulation is a great option for waiving college credit, those articulated credits do not transfer from college to college.

Concurrent dual enrollment increases the value of the CTE class even further by creating a college transcript for material learned here at the CTE Center. Concurrent dual enrollment enables students to use their transcribed credits toward degrees offered by Bay College or any college or university that accepts Bay College transfer credit. Students can choose concurrent dual enrollment or simply continue to take advantage of our existing articulation agreements with Bay College and with many other institutions.

Articulated Credit	Concurrent Dual Enrollment
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Students earn "advanced standing" status on college transcripts at all of the institutions which have established articulation agreements with our CTE Center. In order to earn articulated credit through a CTE course, students must achieve a B or better and have attendance of at least 90%. If a student does not meet our articulation requirements, the "advanced standing" status simply does not take effect. Articulated credit expires after 6 months if not enrolled at Bay College. No cost to anyone 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Students earn a grade on their Bay College transcript, which is the grade they've earned in their CTE class. The grade becomes a permanent part of the student's college transcript and may be transferred to other colleges. Transcribed credits never expire Once registered as a concurrently enrolled student, Bay College withdrawal deadlines will apply. CTE Center pays for the Bay College tuition. NO COST to families or other schools.

Students who choose to concurrently dual enroll will apply to Bay College. The CTE Center will facilitate this. Students are earning college credit through their CTE class, so they are never actually present on the Bay College campus. Students will also sign a Memorandum of Understanding with Bay College and the CTE Center to demonstrate that they are agreeing to both the risks and the benefits of concurrent dual enrollment.

On the back of this sheet is a list of the Bay College classes that are articulated through the DSISD CTE Center and another list of the classes that will be available for concurrent dual enrollment and the requirements for each.

If you are interested in concurrent dual enrollment, have questions, or would like more information, call us at 906-786-9301 or email Lisa Carley at lcarley@dsisd.net.

Look!

Your Career and Technical Education class is more valuable than you think!

Whether you want to enter the work force directly after high school or choose a career that requires a certificate or a degree,

CTE can help you achieve your goals.

- Work-Based Learning

Students have an opportunity to gain real-world experience on actual job sites. These placements have often led to full-time employment after graduation.

- CTE Certified

When students demonstrate good character and integrity as well as technical skills, their instructors recommend them to our CTE Certified industry partners who will guarantee an interview to any student possessing the requisite skills for a job opening.

- Articulated Credit

Many colleges and universities such as Bay and NMU have examined our CTE course content and found that it is equivalent to the content they teach in similar college courses. We have been able to create Articulation Agreements with these schools that specify which college courses can be waived. Students who successfully complete equivalent CTE courses during high school will receive free college credit for those courses when they enroll at one of our partnering institutions after graduation.

- Concurrent Enrollment

Similar to Articulated Credit except that the CTE student enrolls in Bay College for the same courses named in our Articulation Agreements. Students never actually attend Bay College during high school and do not pay tuition for these courses. They learn the material in their CTE course just like everyone earning Articulated Credit. The difference is that an actual college transcript is created. It follows the student forever and can be used at any time at any institution that accepts Bay College transfer credit. This is an ideal option for students who wish to attend college later in life or who wish to enroll at a college or university which has not developed Articulation Agreements with our CTE department.

- Early Middle College

Students can attend a full year of college with FREE TUITION through our Early Middle College partnership with Bay. We offer a wide variety of programs. Students graduate after their "fifth year" of high school with an industry recognized Certificate that can stand alone or ladder into an Associate Degree. Because students enroll in EMC as high school juniors, they ease into the college environment with additional supports from EMC staff in the CTE department and at Bay College.

	Articulated Credit	Concurrent Enrollment	Early Middle College
Can my CTE class count for college credit at Bay College?	YES But you must enroll at Bay within one year of high school graduation	YES A Bay College transcript is created so you can enroll at any future date and the college credits you earned through your CTE class will still count	YES Your CTE class is part of your program of study leading to a Certificate at the end of your "fifth year" of high school
Can my CTE class count for credit at other colleges as well?	YES Your CTE class will enable you to waive specific courses at any institution having Articulation Agreements with our CTE department	YES You can transfer your Bay College credits to any institution which accepts Bay's transfer credit. And there are many! You don't necessarily even have to attend Bay College	NO Bay College is our only Middle College partner at this time
Will I take actual Bay College courses taught by Bay's faculty during High School?	NO	NO	SOME STUDENTS WILL Depending on which EMC program you select
Will I enroll at Bay College during High School?	NO	YES	YES
Is the college credit I earn thru CTE good forever?	NO Credits expire unless you enroll in college, usually within a year of high school graduation	YES	YES
Can I save money by taking a CTE class?	YES You don't have to pay tuition for the college credits you waive through your CTE class!	YES Transcribed credits earned through CTE are tuition free!	YES An entire year of college tuition is FREE!
Can I save time by taking a CTE class?	YES Why spend a whole semester in a college class studying,	YES doing homework and taking tests ,	YES for material you already learned in your CTE class?
What grade will I need to earn in my CTE class?	3 – 80% or higher for Bay College 4 – 90% or higher for NMU	Earn the best grade you can! It will appear on your college transcript	At least a 2.0 in Bay College courses
What is the CTE attendance required to participate?	90%	Good attendance is	Super-important!
What if I change my mind?	NO PROBLEM Just because we offer Articulated Credit doesn't mean you have to use it	A TRANSCRIPT is a forever thing. Be sure you can earn a good grade in your CTE class before you sign up!	NO PROBLEM You can still fall back to earning Articulated Credit
What if I am not interested in going to college?	Here at CTE we know that college isn't the only path to a great life	And we know that you can enjoy financial success and job satisfaction	By entering the workforce directly after high school graduation

❖ CTE does NOT offer Dual Enrollment.

That is something offered by your home school for non-CTE courses such as Calculus II or French III

How to Apply to Bay College For Concurrently Enrolled CTE Students

As a Concurrently Enrolled student, you never actually attend Bay College. The grade you earn in your CTE class also becomes the grade you earn in an equivalent Bay College course. This Bay course and the grade you earn become a part of your permanent college transcript, so it is important to do your best possible work in your CTE class.

The good news is that tuition is FREE and your transcribed credits will never expire. Whether you choose to attend college right after graduation or many years later, the Bay credits you've earned will still count. Also, you can use the credits earned at Bay College at any college or university that accepts Bay's transfer credit, and there are many!

In order to create a college transcript, you have to apply to Bay.
